SPEAKER BIOS

Terri Apgar

Terri Apgar was born and raised in New England. She became a Christian at the age of 16 which led to Gander Brook connections and attending Christian Universities. She graduated from Harding University with a BA in Special Education/Elementary Education.

After graduating she used her minor in Spanish in Miami FL to work with the Spanish-speaking church and taught in Christian schools there for two years.

She returned to Deerfield NH where she met her husband Scott through work. They have three adult children and two granddaughters. They moved to Huntsville AL in 2017.

She is or has been involved in the following ministries: Teaching Bible classes in the Elementary Program; Women's Bible Study leader; Helping Hands Weighted Blanket Ministry; Central Church of Christ Women's Committee; Serving during Gander Brook's summer programs; Speaking at New England retreats and teaching English as a Second Language to Spanish-speaking immigrants.

Celine Sparks

Celine Sparks is the author of Whatever Happened to Fried Chicken?, How to Train Your Dragon, Because I Said So, and most recently, If Mama Ain't Happy. She served for 15 years as the humorist for Christian Woman magazine, and has freelanced for a number of other publications.

Celine lives in Huntsville, Alabama where she and her husband, Scotty, worship and work with the Meridianville Church of Christ. Celine loves her physical family, and enjoys being with her spiritual family as well, speaking at women's events throughout the country.

Her hobbies include losing her keys and sending texts to the wrong people. Find her humor columns and upcoming speaking engagements at celinesparks.com
